ABOUT US

HISTORY BEHIND MELA CAMP

The fair was a source of great pride and prestige for the family, with traders coming from as far afield as Maharashtra and Orissa. However, by the 1990s, the numbers dwindled, and the Kothi and its grounds fell into disrepair.

NATIONAL CHAMBAL SANCTUARY

Ancient Indian texts refer to the Chambal as the Charmanyavati – originating from the blood of thousands of cows sacrificed by the Aryan King Rantideva. Its 'unholy' origins have certainly helped the Chambal survive, and thrive, untouched and unpolluted, and it remains one of India's most pristine rivers.

OUR TEAM

Our team members are a quite motivated, enthusiastic and friendly organization of humans from the neighborhood community. They have all made an attempt to gather better talents and constantly strive to enhance their communication and presentation abilities. In the midst of scenes of rustic action.

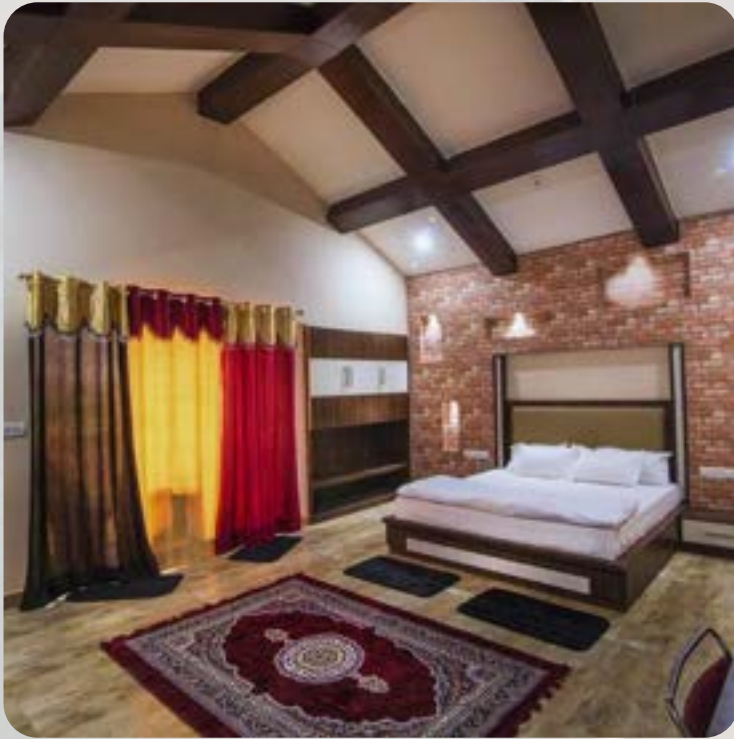

OWNER / DIRECTOR

Kunwar Munendra Pal Singh belongs to jamindaar family of Jarar village and has a vast experience of Indian tourism industry. Currently he is Secretary of Chambal Eco Preservation and Welfare Society. This society is working on conservation of natural resources. He is our Chief Host.

HISTORY

By 2001 the property had fallen into all out decay and was very nearly being denounced. With minimal in excess of a fantasy and the arrival and the vast positive thinking of the rash, I choose to surrender the security of our expert profession (Italian Tour Escort) and come back to jarar. After this Chambal Eco Preservation and Welfare Society was established in February 2014.

Experiences

Alligator in chambal

In the Chambal region, specifically along the Chambal River, the Gharial (Gavialis gangeticus) is the species of crocodilian most commonly associated with the area. While often referred to as an alligator due to its long, narrow snout resembling one, the gharial is actually a species of crocodilian native to the Indian subcontinent. Gharials are distinguishable by their long, thin jaws lined with interlocking teeth, which are adapted for catching fish.

They are considered critically endangered, with conservation efforts focused on protecting their habitat and breeding programs aimed at bolstering their populations.

BOAT SAFARI

The best way to experience the Chambal Sanctuary is to take a boat safari in Chambal River, experiencing the magnificent Ravines on one side of the bank and happening wildlife on the expanse of the river, the other side

JEEP SAFARI

The Blackbuck jeep safari heads southwest towards the countryside between the Chambal and Yamuna ravines, for excellent sightings of Blackbuck deer and numerous dry land birds including the Indian Courser. It is also a fascinating journey through remote hamlets and habitations

BLACK BUCK SAFARI

The Blackbuck jeep safari heads southwest towards the countryside between the Chambal and Yamuna ravines, for excellent sightings of Blackbuck deer and numerous dry land birds including the Indian Courser.

VILLAGE TOUR

The Chambal Safari's village tour offers an authentic glimpse into rural life, showcasing traditional activities and local culture.

HERITAGE WALK

Holipura village, located at the edge of the Yamuna Ravines, near Bateshwar, is a stronghold of the Chaturvedi clan who claim descent from the Greek soldiers of Alexander's army.

BATESHWAR TEMPLE

The ancient settlement of Bateshwar is situated on a crescent bend of the river Yamuna, 12 km – 20 minutes drive from the Chambal Safari Lodge. More than 40 temples dedicated to the glory of Shiva glisten pearly white along the ghats of the river.
